VARE CASE IS CROWDING TARIFF IN SENATE

SURVEY SHOWS SENTIMENT 3 TO 1 AGAINST VARE

INDICATES FEELING AGAINST SEATING HIM EITHER NOW
OR IN DECEMBER

CLOSER DIVISION ON MATTER OF TAKING A VOTE AT PRESENT TIME

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 11.—The Vare case crowded the tariff bill from the senate stage today when the same forces opposing each other in the tariff debate, lined up to decide whether Senator-elect Vare of Pennsylvania should be officially ousted now, or whether the senate should wait until December to do it.

A survey of the situation indicates the senate is 3 to 1 against Vare being seated either now or in December, but there is a closer division on the point whether the vote should be taken at this time.

The republican opposition forces claim they had a majority ready for an immediate vote on the Vare case yesterday and will preserve it today. Their claims appeared to be substantiated by impartial authorities.

A peculiar situation has developed in the usual case with the $800,000,000 tariff bill as the background. At first republican leaders were agreed to throw Vare overboard because it seemed the only thing for them to do, unless they wanted to delay the tariff bill indefinitely.

Vare's friends wanted to make another fight, and his counsel asked the leaders to seek to postpone the issue until the regular December session of congress.

Those republican leaders who are handling Vare's fight now are the same who were astounded when he bolted their band and came out for Herbert Hoover for president, the day before the Kansas City convention last summer. There are many of the old anti-Hoover group in the senate who believe now they would have had a chance to defeat Mr. Hoover at Kansas City, had Vare not rushed from their ranks into the Hoover fold so precipitately.

Not only is their loyalty to Vare the occasion of comment in view of this fact, but also when it is considered their friend, Gov. Fisher of Pennsylvania will be empowered to appoint in Vare's place some senator more friendly to them as soon as the senate acts.

They are making an effort to delay the issue until they can get a report from the Waterman committee on the election contest brought by William E. Wilson, democrat, for Vare's seat.

They believe this report will enable them to refute some of the present charges against Vare, although it is conceded the Wilson contest has nothing to do with the Vare seating case which involves only Vare's activities in his primary election.

If the republicans are defeated by the coalition, the Vare case then will come before the senate for decision upon its merits, and several days, if not a week of debate will ensue. Meanwhile the tariff bill will languish undebated upon the desk of Vice President Curtis.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Efforts to reach a compromise on the Vare case so the senate could get back to tariff bill discussion failed in the senate today as democrats manifested a restlessness attitude toward the tariff delay.

A proposal was made by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada, that the Vare case be put off for two weeks but it was rejected by Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, who said such a brief respite still would interfere with tariff action during the special session.

Finally Senator Simmons, ranking minority member of the finance committee, served notice that unless the Vare matter is disposed of within a few hours he will ask that it be laid aside temporarily so he can make his speech on the $600,000,000 republican tariff bill, a speech he has been planning to make for several days.

Reed argued the Vare contest should be put over until December 3, and urged the senate to adopt the pending Watson motion which would carry out that suggestion. He recommended that a senate committee be sent to Atlantic City to ascertain if Senator-elect Vare is really too ill to appear.

If Vare is well, he argued, the case should be delayed until a report is received from the Waterman committee which investigated the Wilson-Vare election contest.

Minneapolis, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Harry Owens, Minneapolis, and Earl Eastwood, Le Sueur, two of the leading editors who sponsored the "Minnesota plan" of farm relief appealed to farmers of the northwest over WCCO to write to their representatives in congress with demands for a tariff bill which would give agriculture equality with industry.

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Scores of delegates from every section of the state and nationally known speakers from several outside states were assembling here today for the annual state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

The early arriving women delegates will be greeted tonight at a reception sponsored by the local chapter of the organization. Chief speaker on the welcoming program will be Mrs. Josephine Sizer of St. Paul, state W. C. T. U. president.

Discussion at the state convention is expected to center about means of increasing membership throughout Minnesota and the establishing of chapters in every community. A resolution recognizing the benefits derived from the eighteenth amendment also may be adopted.

Heading the list of speakers is Miss Anna A. Bordon, president of the world's W. C. T. U. and life-long friend of Frances E. Willard, founder of the organization.

SEARCH LAKE SUPERIOR FOR MISSING TUGBOAT

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—A search was in progress on Lake Superior today for the A. M. Connee, a missing tug boat believed to have been caught in a severe lake storm while towing a large raft of logs from Canada to Ashland.

The boat with seven men aboard left Canada last week. It was preceded by two other tugs which reached the shelter of Chequamegon bay here in time to avoid the storm.

The raft towed by the Connee contained 900,000 cords of pulpwood.

NO PRAIRIE CHICKEN OR GROUSE SHOOTING IN MANY COUNTIES

St. Paul, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Governor Theodore Christianson late yesterday issued an executive order which prohibited the shooting of prairie chicken and sharp-tailed grouse this year in all but 16 of Minnesota's 87 counties and reduction by half of the season in the remaining counties.

The order was issued at the recommendation of George W. McCullough, state game and fish commissioner, who also warned hunters that rough grouse may not be shot this year.

Counties in which chickens may be hunted between Sept. 16 and 22 only included Morrison, Clay, Todd and Wilkin.

VISIONS MEN WEARING SKIRTS, WOMEN IN TROUSERS

London, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Visions of men wearing skirts and women wearing trousers were conjured by Dr. J. C. Flugel, a British delegate, in an address before the international congress of World League for Sexual Reform today.

Dr. Flugel added that a combination of skirt and trousers, including the favorable features of both male and female attire, might conceivably become the best mode of attire for both sexes.

He declares women were clothing for the sake of decoration and men for the sake of modesty.

Body of Man Believed to be Rev. O. J. Kvale Found in Ruins of Cottage at Ottertail Lake

EXPLOSION OF STOVE FIRES HIS LAKE HOME

KVALE REPRESENTED SEVENTH MINNESOTA CONGRESSIONAL

IS FATHER OF SEVEN CHILDREN, RELATIVES ARE SUM-MONED

Fergus Falls, Minn., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—The body of a man believed to be Rev. O. J. Kvale, United States representative in congress from the seventh Minnesota congressional district, was recovered today from the smoldering ruins of a summer cottage at Ottertail lake, 30 miles from here.

Rev. Kvale was seen in Fergus Falls late Tuesday and was known to have gone alone to the cottage which burned to the ground some time during the night.

Fergus Falls officials announced they will take relatives and close friends from the congressman's home at Benson, Minn., to the scene of the tragedy immediately.

Explosion of a stove in the cottage was blamed for the congressman's death by J. G. Vigen, Fergus Falls coroner, today. Coroner Vigen identified the body as that of the congressman and said the official apparently had been trapped in the summer home by the explosion of the stove, pieces of which were scattered through the ashes of the building.

After an examination of the body and reviewing the circumstances surrounding the fire, Coroner J. G. Vigen declared he was convinced the body was that of Rev. Kvale. All circumstances indicated the congressman and Lutheran minister was in the cottage during the night, Vigen said.

The smoldering ashes of the cottage were discovered by P. W. Malcolm, tenant on the Kvale farm where the cabin was located. Malcolm said Kvale called at his home last night and said he would stop there at noon today.

Malcolm went to the neighborhood of the cottage at 9 A. M. today and discovered the ruined cabin. He found the body on a cot surrounded by pieces of a gasoline stove and lamp which had exploded.

The Kvale family motor car stood near the cottage, undamaged. The garage in which the car usually was stored was burned to the ground.

Vigen announced mortuary attendants from Fergus Falls had been sent to the farm to bring the body here.

Rep. Kvale was born at Decorah, Ia., Feb. 6, 1869. He received his bachelor's degree at Decorah Institute in 1890, and obtained his master's degree at the University of Chicago. In 1893 he was ordained in the Lutheran church. He first served as pastor at Oxfordville, Wis., and from 1917-1923 was pastor of the Lutheran church at Benson.

He was elected to congress in 1923 from the 7th congressional district, having defeated Andrew J. Volstead,

STATUS IS GRAVE ALONG BORDER IN MANCHURIA

CHINESE CONCENTRATE DES-
PERATELY AGAINST MENAC-
ING RUSSIAN FORCE

ACTIVITY WIDENS, COMMUNICA-TION WITH IMPORTANT POINTS SEVERED

Mukden, Manchuria, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—The situation along the Manchurian-Siberian border continued grave today, with the Chinese desperately concentrating against a menacing Russian force along a wide front.

Communication with important border points was severed, and only intermittent reports came through. The chief centers of fighting were at Manchuli, Pogranitchnaya and Suifenhao. The Chinese were defending the Manchuli sector against determined attacks by artillery, armored cars and airplanes.

The fate of Pogranitchnaya was unknown. Most of the residents had evacuated after the city had been heavily damaged by airplanes. Belated dispatches from Suifenhao said the Chinese still held the town under a determined Soviet assault and under heavy artillery fire.

father of the prohibition law, by 14,000 votes.

He is the father of seven children. In 1920 Rev. Kvale ran against Mr. Volstead, defeating him in the election. However, Mr. Volstead contested the election on the ground that Rev. Kvale had charged him with atheism during the course of the campaign.

The case was first brought up in Swift county district court at Benson, and July 20, 1920, Mr. Volstead was declared the winner of the election, technically, by Judge Albert Johnson, Red Wing.

Rev. Kvale appealed the case to the Minnesota supreme court, which ruled that a vacancy existed in the 7th congressional district. Under the law, the congressional committee of the district was called upon to name the nominee, and Mr. Volstead was named to serve his last term. He was overwhelmingly defeated in the next election.

At the time of Mr. Kvale's election, the dries felt that they had lost their support in congress, but shortly after Rev. Kvale took his seat in congress, the New York Times declared that the dries had retained their support in that Rev. Kvale, in an interview, had declared himself "drier than Volstead."

FIRES CAME SLOW, SO THEY STARTED A FEW

GLEN COVE FIREMEN, 8 OF THEM
NOW SITTING IN THE COUNTY JAIL

THINGS HAD BEEN DULL IN THE
VILLAGE, AND VOLUNTEERS
WANTED ACTION

By HARRY FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Sept. 11.—The path of glory trod by volunteer firemen led up to the Mineola county jail today where eight of Glen Cove's most intrepid battlers of blazes sat behind bars.

They had confessed that things had been dull in the village for the last five years and so, yielding to an overwhelming desire to go into action with their unscorched uniforms, they had started a fire now and then.

Thus did authorities clear up the mystery of the blazes in four houses. Grieved that authorities should jail them for holding signal practice in the early hours of the morning, the eight hook-and-ladder heroes hastened to point out they had been careful to ascertain that the houses were unoccupied before putting the torch to the buildings.

Once at the fire, the volunteers worked with deadly efficiency, for the fire-setting committee apparently bore in mind the limitations of the department's equipment while promoting conflagrations.

Police arrested Edward Baker, Harry Francis, Thomas Moore, Adam Kant, Lawrence Kreyer, Raymond Sprague, Fred Dozey and Norman Lang, all of whom were held for the grand jury on a charge of arson.

CORNSTALK GAS TO PRODUCE HEAT, LIGHT, POWER, ETC.

2 ILLINOIS CHEMISTS REVEAL DISCOVERY AT CHEMICAL SOCIETY CONVENTION

PRODUCTION WOULD CUT COST OF CORNSTALK PAPER, FUR-THER ASSERTED

Minneapolis, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Cornstalks which recently literally "made the front page" of many American newspapers, yesterday assumed a new greatness when two Illinois chemists revealed the discovery of a cornstalk gas capable of providing heat, light, power and refrigeration on a commercial scale.

Production of the gaseous fuel would at the same time cut much of the cost from the manufacture of cornstalk paper and partly eliminate the deadly corn borer, Professor A. M. Buswell and C. S. Boruff revealed here before the 78th American Chemical Society convention.

Comparatively simple apparatus would be required, the chemists said—a small cylindrical tank, a supply of dried cornstalks and the average farmer would have enough gas to cook his meals, heat his home, charge his electric storage plant, operate his gas engines and provide his freezer with dry ice.

"It has been estimated," Buswell and Boruff said, "that a circle of corn land eight miles in diameter would produce enough gas to supply the usual consumption of a city of 80,000 persons."

"The chemical process is quite simple. Fermentation of cellulose by bacteria, which would be provided by the waste in the drains from the farm home, results in the formation of sufficient quantities of methane of marsh gas to make its production possible on a practical scale."

"At the same time the deadly corn borer would largely be eliminated and all of the stalk would be digested save that fibrous portion valuable in the manufacture of paper."

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 11.—Among the first industrial cornstalk plants to be established in the northwest is that in Stearns county, which is given over to the production of cornstalk newspaper. The cornstalk newspaper is used exclusively in the publication of the St. Cloud Times and Journal-Press, a leading central Minnesota newspaper.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL GRADUATE REFUSES TO REVEAL DOCTOR

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—A pretty young high school graduate who was "game" to the last, died here yesterday steadfast in her refusal to name the doctor who performed the illegal operation that killed her.

She was Eleanor Dunbar, 19, who came here from Rochester, Minn., two weeks ago. She became sick a week ago and after being taken to a hospital remained unmoved in her determination to shield the doctor and her Rochester sweetheart.

A few moments before she died Eleanor told a detective who sought the doctor's name, "He was a good fellow and if I die as you say I am going to, I'll take that secret to the grave with me."

MYSTERIOUS AILMENT ATTACKS FAMILY; 1 DEAD, 3 SICK

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—A four-year-old boy was dead and four persons were seriously ill today as concentrated attempts were begun to determine the source of their mysterious ailment.

David Tyrell, 4, was seized with convulsions yesterday and died a few hours later before physicians could determine what caused the fatal illness. Meantime his parents and two sisters became sick.

The family were at a summer home outside the city when they were attacked with what physicians believed must be food or water poisoning.

All food in the house and water in the cistern was to be examined in an effort to determine the source of the sickness.

3,500 MEN ARE FIGHTING RAGING FIRES

BLAZING ALONG SCATTERED AREAS IN OREGON AND WASHINGTON

EXTREMELY POOR VISIBILITY
PREVAILING OVER WIDE RE-GION IS HANDICAP

Portland, Ore., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Every national forest in Oregon and all but two in Washington were closed to the public today as more than 3,500 men fought raging fires along scattered areas in the two states.

The order went into effect when C. M. Granger, district forester, received reports that the forestry service was confronted with the most dangerous forest fire hazard in years.

Extremely poor visibility prevailed over a wide area and lookout and airplane patrol service was ineffective in locating fires. Low humidity and extremely dry weather existed with no immediate prospect of a change.

The order closing the forests will stand until a general rain falls, Granger said. Meanwhile Governor Patterson has postponed the opening of the deer season, scheduled for Sept. 15, until forests are drenched.

In western Oregon alone about 200 fires kept more than 2,000 men busy. Fire fighters were endeavoring to keep the flames from reaching hundreds of acres of green timber and valuable stands of Port Orford cedar in Coos and Curry counties.

A stiff wind lashed the Triangle lake fire in the Siuslaw national forest into renewed fury toward settlers along Deadwood creek. Small settlements along Wold creek were threatened by a fire in Lake county.

In the Olympia national forest in Washington, the Duckabush fire was the most serious. Additional fire fighters were sent up from Seattle to join a crew of 165 men on the lines.

HARD BOILED BOY SHOOTS HIS FATHER

Friendship, Wis., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Duncan Galston, the 14-year-old farm boy who was found nonchalantly playing pool after putting a soft-nosed bullet in a high powered rifle to kill his father at last has decided he is sorry he committed the crime.

Duncan, who will be tried Monday on first degree murder charges, decided yesterday, many hours after the crime, that "I wish I hadn't done it."

"The boy said he had 'a few drinks,' but said he was not drunk when he shot and killed James Galston, 58, as the farmer lay asleep."

Duncan talked unrestrainedly about the crime yesterday and appeared to see nothing unusual in his robbing the body of his father and going then to a pool hall where he played several games with a friend.

Duncan shot his father, he said, because he tried to curb the youth's "light life" and extravagance.

CHICAGO BOMB TOSSERS BLOW UP SAME BUILDING AGAIN

Chicago, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Chicago bomb tossers remembered the fourteenth anniversary of one of their explosions today by blowing up the same building again.

Fourteen years ago a building on the West Side was damaged by the explosion of a crude bomb. Charles Renzico, owner and occupant escaped injury only to be shot down in a later gang killing.

Frank Gilberto, present owner, reminded friends who occupied the floors above his store last night that the anniversary of the bombing was approaching. An hour later his store was wrecked by a black powder bomb. No one was injured.

The bomb was the 84th of the year for Chicago.

San Francisco, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Janet Graynor, 22-year-old motion picture actress of "Seventh Heaven" fame, and Lydell Peck, 30, son of a prominent San Francisco attorney, are to be married here today.

The couple were issued a marriage license yesterday but would make no definite statement as to when the ceremony would take place.

Janet's mother, however, said that the wedding bells would chime today.

THEFT OF $5.50 BRINGS LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—Theft of $5.50 from a youth here brought a life imprisonment sentence to Louis Mareno, 39, Chicago, and a five to 30 year term to Mike Brodiak, 21, a companion from Winnipeg. Mareno has been twice previously convicted.

BIRTH OF BABY IS DECLARED NOT AN 'ACT OF GOD'

New York, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Birth of a baby is not an "act of God," Actors' Equity association ruled today.

Recently the cast of "Coquette," protested when Jed Harris closed the show because Helen Hayes, the star, was about to become a mother. They demanded two weeks salary. Harris cabled from London saying Equity's contract did not hold the producer responsible for an "act of God."

Today, however, Equity ruled the cast must receive a settlement from the producer.

One Room with a Stove or A WHOLE HOME with the

SUNBEAM CABINET HEATER

How will you heat your home this winter? The way you did twenty years ago—or the way, so many of your progressive friends are doing? Will you continue to heat one room with a stove and close off the rest of the house? Does this pay, when with one fire in the Sunbeam Cabinet Heater, you can keep every room, upstairs and down, cozy, cheery and livable? When it costs no more for Sunbeam whole-home heating?

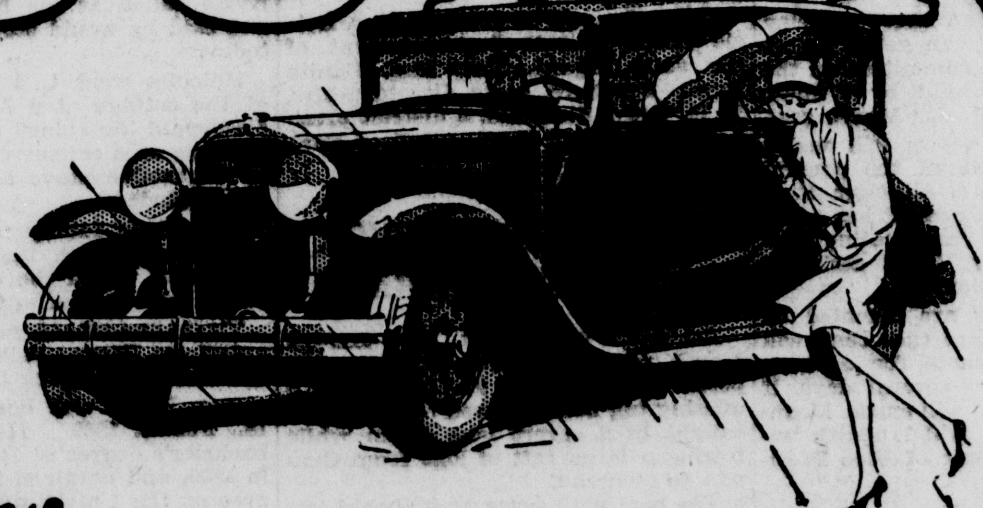

Because the Sunbeam is, in effect a furnace, it heats all the rooms, upstairs and down. It does not radiate heat like a stove. Instead, it circulates fresh, moist warm air—the most comfortable, healthful warmth, money can buy.

If you have been using several stoves, you can reduce your fuel bills, by replacing them with one Sunbeam. And you will obtain another attractively designed richly finished mahogany or walnut piece of furniture.

One of the two Sunbeam sizes is suitable for your home. And you will be agreeably surprised at the reasonable prices we are asking.

New Controlled Servo Enclosed brakes unrivalled for smooth, sure, silent operation in any weather . . .

To Buick, pioneer of four-wheel brakes, now falls the distinction of another major achievement in this same vital field: the development and introduction of Buick Controlled Servo Enclosed Brakes—the most effective four-wheel braking system ever devised for any automobile!

Buick's new brakes are of the highly efficient internal-expanding type. They are fully enclosed—fully protected against dust, dirt and water—and thus assure maximum braking effectiveness under all weather conditions.

They represent the highest development of the self-energizing principle, which makes the car's own motion provide part of the braking effort. They reveal unmatched responsiveness to the slightest pedal pressure. And they are so perfectly controlled that "grabbing" is entirely unknown! When you apply these brakes, you obtain the most positive, as well as the smoothest and most silent action you have ever experienced in any automobile!

Drive the new Buick! Test not only its matchless new brakes but its brilliant all-round performance, riding comfort and driving ease—all of which combine to establish the new Buick as the greatest value ever offered in the fine car field!

STATE FAIR WAS MOST SUCCESSFUL IN ITS HISTORY

LIVESTOCK SHOW, EDUCATIONAL EXHIBITS ESTABLISH NEW HIGH WATER MARK

HORSES, CATTLE, SHEEP, SWINE EXHIBITS BEST SINCE DAIRY SHOW OF 1921

St. Paul, Sept. 11.—The 70th annual Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Livestock Show, which closed Saturday night, Sept. 7, was one of the most successful in the history of the State Agricultural Society, according to Cal Sivright, vice president and general manager.

The livestock show and educational exhibits established a new high water mark for future fairs to shoot at. The horse, cattle, sheep and swine exhibits were the best since the National Dairy Show, in 1921.

Although the weather was too hot the early part of the week, and rain kept many visitors away the latter part of the show, the attendance was 433,268 or only about 20,000 less than in 1928. The attendance by days was as follows:

Friday, Aug. 30 (Preparation Day)	9,440
Saturday, August 31	32,258
Sunday, September 1	15,780
Monday, September 2	121,247
Tuesday, September 3	41,057
Wednesday, September 4	46,784
Thursday, September 5	71,337
Friday, September 6	49,583
Saturday, September 7	48,782
Total	433,268

"Although the extreme heat the early part of the week and several rainy days which followed materially affected our attendance," says Mr. Sivright, "the Fair Board feels that it has staged the greatest fair in all history."

"The exhibits in many departments were record-breaking and the quality of displays was unusually high. The Northwest Livestock Show attracted a big entry of horses, cattle, sheep and swine from every part of Minnesota and Canada. This show was so outstanding that a national livestock representative here to take sound pictures."

One of the outstanding successes was the evening Horse Show. All records for attendance at this show were broken. There was hardly a seat left at any one of the five performances. Several of the finest stables in America had big entries. The machinery show at the fair was probably the best of its kind in history. Thousands of farmers and dealers from Minnesota and surrounding states transacted business with exhibitors. The girls and boys club demonstrations were of extremely high order. Agricultural and horticultural exhibits were unusually good.

"The entertainment program was of exceptional quality. Several world and track records were broken on the auto racing program. The harness racing card produced time as good as any grand circuit meeting in the country this year. In twelve harness races there were only two heats that were not lower than 2:08 1/2."

"The sensational exhibition of flying put on by Charles (Speed) Holman, and the spectacular parachute drops of Nona Malloy and George Babcock put a punch in the aerial program."

TO STOP GAMBLING AT THE CAPITAL

GOVERNMENT MOVING RAPIDLY IN CAMPAIGN AT WASH- INGTON, D. C.

Washington, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—The government, through U. S. Attorney Leo A. Rover, was moving rapidly today in its campaign to stop gambling in the national capital. The cleanup, which may be extended to other cities, has been started against bookmakers of horse races and operators of "number" or "policy" lotteries.

With the arrest of the alleged "master mind" of the "numbers" game, police officials believed today the cleanup soon would be effected.

Rover has appealed to the newspaper-ers to aid in the campaign. He requested papers not to print racing information and government financial statistics, such as the daily treasury balance and customs receipts.

Newspapers, he said, were unwittingly fostering gambling by printing such information. He pointed out that while the government figures were legitimate news, gamblers operated lotteries by having people gamble on what the figures would be from day to day.

Treasury officials meantime said they were receiving many letters protesting the "number" lotteries. They estimated millions of people played "numbers" daily, risking bets of from 10 cents to thousands of dollars on the chance of collecting 600 to one if they picked the lucky number of the day.

To Honor Lewis

A LASTING monument to the memory of Meriwether Lewis, which will have the support not only of the federal government but of the states which were traversed by the famous Lewis and Clark exploration in 1804-1806, is proposed by P. E. Cox, state archaeologist, and W. H. Eagle, assistant attorney general of Tennessee, who are now covering the trail of these intrepid explorers.

Lewis' tomb is located in Lewis county, Tenn., and in the closing days of his administration, President Coolidge created there the Lewis monument, a tract of 300 acres. It is to develop this tract that Mr. Cox and Mr. Eagle now are making the trip from Nashville, Tenn., to Astoria, Ore., the end of the trail. They seek to stimulate the interest of the present generation in the Lewis and Clark exploration, and to encourage state and national memorials. The Northern Pacific Railway, the first of the northern transcontinentals, follows the trail of these explorers much of the way to the Pacific Northwest.

"The Lewis and Clark expedition first revealed the vast extent and possibilities of the territory west of the Mississippi and turned the tide of development to it," Mr. Cox said.

Meriwether Lewis, head of the expedition under commission of Thomas Jefferson which explored the Louisiana purchase territory and area west to the coast, was found shot to death October 11, 1809, at Grinder's Inn on the edge of the Tennessee wilderness three years after the completion of the Northwest exploration.

The crumbled foundation of the frontier inn where he met death stands on the tract in Lewis county, which just has been designated a national memorial. The various states in the territory are urged to set up markers visited by the explorers to help create a Meriwether Lewis highway from the mouth of the Columbia river to the gulf. The Tennessee section already has been designated. Mr. Cox is president of the Meriwether Lewis Memorial Association.

Housework is Heavy Work

WE remember when the census taker came around and inquired what occupation she was engaged in, and the Lady of the House was listed as housewife. Some of the ignorant bachelors shaded their eyebrows and thought that was no occupation at all.

But let the wife be incapacitated and let the man attempt to take her place keeping order and peace in a household of kids, cooking the meals, running the washer, scrubbing the floors, mending and sewing, answering telephone calls, marketing, etc., and he will soon come to the conclusion that housekeeping, be it in small compass or on a large scale, is a man's job.

Scientists by means of ingenious tests have figured it out that a housewife consumes more energy than a carpenter or a house painter. Dressing a baby requires seven times as much energy as sewing by hand.

Washing takes more energy than any other task around the house, says the authority in Popular Science Monthly. Sweeping comes next. Ironing is about half as hard as washing.

When a woman has to lean over a table that is too low, she uses up a quarter again as much energy as when the table is of proper height. A farmer's wife, who put a pedometer on her ankle found that she averaged from 12 to 18 miles a day in walking about the house to do her work.

It is a noticeable fact that architects, contractors, home designers are now paying as much attention to the kitchen as to the living room. Making things convenient, easy of access in a kitchen robs household cares of a large percentage of toil.

Be Careful of Your Campfire

WITH a hundred thousand hunters in the fields and woods, and along the lakes shores, with the opening of the hunting season on September 16, the Commissioner of Game and Fish, Geo. W. McCullough, cautions all nimrods to be careful of their camp fires.

The past two months has been an exceptionally dry season and a great number of fires have swept the northern portion of the state. Approximately fifty thousand acres have been burned over and all of the fires are not yet under control. Although the rains of the past week have lessened the danger to some extent, nevertheless certain sections are dry enough to constitute a fire menace.

Anglers have been notoriously slack in their camp fire conduct and it is hoped the hunter will show more discretion and thought and exercise better judgment in the selection of a place for a camp fire and its extinguishment after the need for the camp fire has ceased.

To prevent undue depletion, Governor Christianson has accorded additional protection to prairie chickens, pinnated grouse and white breasted or sharp tailed grouse and none may be taken this year in Minnesota with the exception of 16 counties, and therein they may be shot for a period of seven days only from September 16 to September 22 inclusive. Shooting is barred in Crow Wing county, but open in Morrison and Aitkin counties, according to the restrictions named in the proclamation.

IN all countries the rate of suicide among the unmarried is much higher than among the married. The average married man faces more troubles and surmounts them more easily than the bachelor. The single man or woman centers too much on self.

GOLF is taking such a hold in Minnesota that it took a whole page in the Sunday Minneapolis Journal to picture the winners in the various golf tournaments this year.

TWIN CITY fans figure the Minneapolis Association team lost $10,000 when it was rained out last Sunday.

ON REARING CHILDREN from CRIB TO COLLEGE

Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN, THE PARENTS' MAGAZINE"

"It seems to me," writes Louis Bromfield in the Parents' Magazine, "that in the relationship of child and parent, the parent has few rights and only a colossal responsibility. He is responsible for the very existence of the child. How many times is heard the tragic-comic cry, 'I didn't ask to be born!' The child is utterly helpless and the prey to every sort of stupidity, selfishness, cruelty and ignorance. A child has every right to be treated with respect and awe and with what is more important, with sympathy and understanding."

What is the sane and sensible way to dress a baby? The answer is very definite and simple. Summer and winter, rain or shine, the baby wears: A flannel band, which should be replaced after the first month by a cotton and wool or silk and wool-knitted band with shoulder straps.

A diaper, which should be folded oblong rather than triangular and tied or pinned at the sides and then tied or pinned to the flannel band at sides and front, thus making a point-like garment. It is more comfortable and less bungling when applied in this manner.

A knitted shirt with sleeves, either silk and wool or cotton and wool. All wool is much less desirable.

A thin cotton dress. The old-fashioned "long" and "short" clothes are no longer used. If the baby's dress is made amply large and about twenty-two inches long the child will grow to it and by the time he is six months old it will be plenty short enough.

Have a complete set of clean clothes every day, and dress the baby only once, when he has his bath in the morning.

During the summer months boys and girls need:

Simple outdoor life away from crowds, "movies," noise, trains, etc.

Opportunity to learn to perform simple duties that contribute to the welfare of a home, because in winter there is not time to include this training in the school day.

Chance to tramp, fish, collect, canoe, etc., because winter sports are chiefly indoors.

Opportunity to have the joy of earning money, for which there is not much time during the school year.

Opportunity to play with other children, as some children are inclined to clan almost entirely by themselves.

A bowl of goldfish placed in a sick room always pleases the small patient when his head is just too heavy to raise for any other amusement.

"Occasionally we take our five-year-old girl with us when dining out," writes one of the readers of the Parents' Magazine. "At such times I always carry along a small amount of modeling clay, and this has never failed to keep her entertained and quiet while the grown-ups are busy visiting with each other."

Printed Linen Is Used for Popular Beach Coat

The neck is cut out a little and bound. Binding folded once and pressed goes on quickly. Stitch it first on the right side of the coat; then roll it over the edge and stitch again. If the binding laps a shade more on the wrong side of the coat than on the right side the second stitching may be run on the right side. The coat is shown in printed linen but there are ever so many attractive materials for beach use. Willow-weave which shows a colored print on a plain basket-weave background is a cotton especially suitable for beach coats. Eponge, while not a new material, comes in a series of colorful prints fitting smartly into the summer mode. For a warmer coat flannel is practical. With this material silk makes the neatest binding and is easy to put on.—Woman's Home Companion.

FARM STOCK

DIP TO DESTROY MANY PARASITES

Important That Task Be Performed Before Winter.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

For September the Calendar of Live Stock Parasites, issued recently by the United States Department of Agriculture, makes suggestions as follows:

"Now is the time to dip your live stock for lice, sheep ticks, true ticks, and mange. Later it will be too cold to do more than apply relief measures. Do it now while the weather is still warm and save yourself trouble later, as these pests are more troublesome in cold weather."

Bulletins Nos. 1085-F (sheep parasites), 1493-F (lice, mange, and ticks of horses), 1085-F (hog lice and hog mange), 1017-F (cattle scab), 980-F (ear ticks), 909-F (cattle lice), 798-F (sheep ticks), and 713-F (sheep scab). Clean up lice on poultry. See Farmers' Bulletin Nos. 1237-F and 801-F.

"In the fall farrowing of pigs plan to use the swine-sanitation system as modified for farrowing on pasture in the fall. Consult United States Department of Agriculture Leaflet No. 5-L.

"A mud wallow for pigs provides a breeding ground for worm eggs and helps to load pigs with roundworms and kidney worms. At one packing plant in the South it was found that kidney worms and thorn-headed worms cause an annual loss of $80,000. The use of a concrete wallow is an aid in keeping down worm infestations, provided it is properly constructed and used. See Farmers' Bulletin No. 1085-F for directions for constructing and using concrete wallows.

"In regions where parasites interfere with sheep raising, breed ewes in time to lamb early, if you have the equipment, and market before the worms share your profits. Early lambs come before the parasites wake up from their winter sleep."

This calendar, compiled by Dr. Maurice C. Hall, of the bureau of animal industry, contains similar reminders for each month in the year and a general summary of year-round precautions against parasites. The calendar, which is Miscellaneous Publication 25-M, or any of the departmental publications listed by Doctor Hall, may be obtained free by applying to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. Friends you can trust

Advertised products are your friends wherever you find them. You know them. And you can buy them with confidence—sure of honest value for your money. For they have stood the test of public scrutiny, they have been advertised and found worthy.

For advertising, after all, is a test—a trial by the fire of public approval. Today no manufacturer would start advertising his products unless he knew they were sound and good. And if errors did creep in, he would be quick to correct them, for to hold business he must uphold the confidence advertising has created among millions of people for his wares.

Advertising brings protection to the consumer. It guarantees honest value. It sends quality up. The manufacturer who advertises builds up such a volume of sales that he gives far more in both quality and quantity than the non-advertiser can possibly do.

Seek out your friends—the advertised products. Favor the dealer who handles them. Look for them on the shelves. Watch for them in the show windows. They are the hallmarks of a good business house. They are negotiable guarantees of value. They are friends you can trust.

Advertised products are sometimes not the cheapest you can buy; but they are always the cheapest to own

LIGHTEST TEAM IN YEARS FACES HEAVY GRID SCHEDULE

B. H. S. SQUAD TO OPEN SEASON AT STAPLES SEPT. 20

FIRST HOME GAME OF YEAR FINDS WADENA AS RIVALS, SEPT. 28

THREE POSITIONS MUST BE STRENGTHENED BEFORE THE TEAM CAN COPE WITH BEST

Headwork, speed and football cleverness taught by the coach will be needed to carry the Brainerd high school football squad through this season. Weight will be a drawback to success as the squad is the lightest in years, possibly the lightest team that ever represented the Blue and White. And the squad faces one of the school's heaviest grid schedules.

Brainerd will open the season at Staples on Friday, September 20, and Wadena will come here for the first home game on Saturday, September 28.

Coach Warren Kasch is finding it difficult to fill positions left vacant by last year's graduates: McCaffrey and Goedert, ends; Larson, Paine, Geist, tackles; Lien and Nelson, guards; ex-Captain Fuller, Gabiou, Wise and L. Swanson, backfield.

However, seven lettermen have returned: Captain Hautala, Guin, Lammon, Halvorson, Garvey, Foster and Abrahamson.

Men who are practicing daily and are after positions are: Luken, Hoffbauer, Kleven, Coffey, Beckley, P. Anderson, Mayo, Patterson, Bedore, Wyatt, Hickerson, Templeton, Block, Dahl, Cain, Ley, Edstrom, McPherson, Shobe, Joe Gabiou, A. Erickson, Creger, LeMire, Clausen, Moe, W. Johnson, Cass, Kenney, Hogan, E. Foster, Marshall, Schuety, Severtson, Heald, Ray Wise, W. Anderson, M. Garvey.

Leo Dybvik will not be found in the ranks as he is not returning this season.

"Too rosy an outlook cannot be made by football followers this fall for there are two or three positions that must be strengthened considerably before Brainerd can class with the best. I am not over optimistic as yet," Coach Kasch said today.

A new system is being used in the local camp this year in that there will be freshmen and sophomore teams.

The squad will number over 50.

BELIEVES HE IS HIS OLD TIME SELF AGAIN

FIGHTING FOR WELTERWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP WHICH JAKIE FIELDS NOW HOLDS

MANDELL BELIEVES HE CAN GIVE JAKIE A RUN FOR HIS MONEY

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Convincing that he again is his old time self, Lightweight Champion Sammy Mandell is ready to go after bigger things—the principal item in the bigger things being the welterweight championship which Jakie Fields now holds.

Mandell believes he can whip Fields and there is no denying that Sammy certainly is capable of giving Jakie a run for his money. Mandell's jubilant attitude is the result of the fine form he showed in his recent bout with Luis Vicentini, the Chilean.

Sammy never looked better than he did against Vicentini and curiously enough the Vicentini showing followed the champion's worst exhibition—an exhibition which nearly cost him his title.

When Mandell went into his title fight with Tony Canzoneri recently he was a 3-1 shot to win. Before the fight was two rounds old there were many in the crowd who wondered if Sammy could stay the limit.

Then he took a non-title match against the Chilean, admittedly one of the best of the lightweights. Mandell won off by himself. There never was any doubt who would win.

Sammy's form immediately brought a demand for a bout with Fields. It doubtless would be a great fight and a sell-out here because Fields is a local boy and Mandell has a big following.

There are many who believe that Mandell would outbox the welterweight champion. Fields is a good boxer himself but he certainly never has shown any of the boxing greatness of Mandell.

Jakie would have about a five pound weight advantage but he also would be working under the psychological handicap of fighting a man who had beaten him. Before Jakie became champion, Mandell outboxed him in ten rounds.

Yesterday's Hero—Babe Ruth, whose 43rd home run of the season was the one bright spot as the New York Yankees dropped the first game of a double bill with the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 4, and whose 44th home run rode home the tying run as the Yankees took the second game, 10 to 9.

Mickey Cochrane's timely single with two out in the ninth gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 6 to 5 victory over Cleveland in the first game of a double header. The second game was called on account of rain with the A's leading 2 to 1 in the fourth.

The New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds took advantage of an open date to play off a postponed game and the Reds took the added contest, 7 to 5.

Behind two good pitching exhibitions the St. Louis Browns took both ends of a double-header with the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 1, and 1 to 0.

P. Waner's triple with two men on base in the ninth gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

HELEN HICKS IN LEAD BY 10 STROKES

ALLOWS LONG ISLAND YOUNGSTER TO HEAD WOMEN'S WESTERN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Chicago, Sept. 11.—(UP)—Thirty-six holes of record breaking play allowed Helen Hicks, Long Island youngster, to hold the lead by ten strokes as the second half of the 72-hole western women's golf tournament began today.

Miss Hicks turned in a score of 73 in each of her two first 18-hole rounds. Her 156 for the 36 holes was ten strokes better than the 166 scored by Mrs. Lee Mida, Chicago, the defending champion. Previous to the first 78 scored by Miss Hicks, the Flossmoor course record had been 80.

Exceptionally long driving and accurate putting has been the key-stone of Miss Hicks' play. Seldom has Chicago seen a woman who could equal her drives.

Maureen Orcutt, Hawthorn, N. J., was in third place with 171. Others of the leaders were Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, 172; Francis Hadfield, Milwaukee, 173, and Mrs. Gregg Lifer, Los Angeles, 173.

GRIDIRON TABLOIDS

Cape May, N. J., Sept. 11.—(UP)—The first casualty of the Pennsylvania football camp, Charley Brogley, center candidate, left for Philadelphia yesterday to undergo an X-ray examination of his arm. Phil Hall, big guard from Kiski, showed up well in the hard workout.

New York, Sept. 11.—(UP)—With five more veterans back in harness, Head Coach Charley Crowley drove his Columbia Lions through a stiff training session. A group of veterans worked a series of plays while the newcomers watched form and technical detail.

New York, Sept. 11.—(UP)—With new men on the line the New York university Violets went through a 60-minute scrimmage yesterday. Coach Chick Mehan kept the mixup going at top speed with frequent substitutions. Lane came in for most of the attention. Beryl Follet clicked off some long runs.

Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 11.—(UP)—With the opening game less than three weeks off Coach Augie Tate drove 85 Lafayette football candidates through first practice at a rapid gait yesterday.

BASEBALL SQUIBS

Brooklyn has purchased Babe Phelps from Jacksonville of the Southeastern league.

With the signing of Pitcher "Red" Bryce, Birmingham (New York-Penn) released Fred Adams outright.

We are considering having nothing to do with the Chinese-Russian dispatches until they number the players.

The Toledo baseball club has the reputation of carrying the heaviest pay roll outside of the major leagues.

The knuckleball helped Ed Rommel win his first seven games for the Athletics. Rommel has excellent control.

John Miljas, of Cleveland, has been a successful finishing pitcher this year, but has had trouble finishing his own games.

Babe Phelps, pitching ace of the Jacksonville club of the Southeastern league, has been sold to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The day after the St. Louis Browns built a screen above their short right-field fence four drives bounced back into the playing field. None went over.

Selection of Bill Shipke, Omaha and Des Moines third baseman of two decades ago, as a scout for the Cincinnati National league club, has been announced.

If Max Bishop is forced to wear spectacles on the field he will be the second basemen so arrayed. George Toporek won fame as the first infielder with glasses.

The record number of ball games won by a major team in a season was set by Frank Chance's Chicago Cubs in 1906, when they rolled up a total of 116 victories.

Sam Hyman, veteran left-handed pitcher, purchased from New Haven during the past winter, has been released by Manager Heinie Groh, of the Hartford club.

No major league ball games in New York are broadcast. And the metropolitan magnates hold that the radio is hurting the attendance in the cities broadcasting games.

Celebrated Cast-Offs

By HARDIN BURNLEY

MASTER minds must register pains in the neck as do those of ordinary mortals. Every time that John McGraw, the Giants' Napoleon, sees, reads, or hears of that Cub Hack Wilson making another hit, one of the McGrawian hands must moodily massage that part of the anatomy which links husky shoulders and chest with the corrugated thinking machine! For McGraw—who knows his baseball as a ham actor does his vagrant vegetables—let Wilson go after careful study. The scout and rotund Hack person then caught on with Chicago and in short order became a Cub star. The Reds and the Phillies, is another glowing specimen of the cast-off whose later work exposes the error of earlier managerial judgment. Lew is a real star with Cleveland. And then there is Babe Herman, Pat Malone, Burleigh Grimes and at least a half dozen others who are confounding master minds.

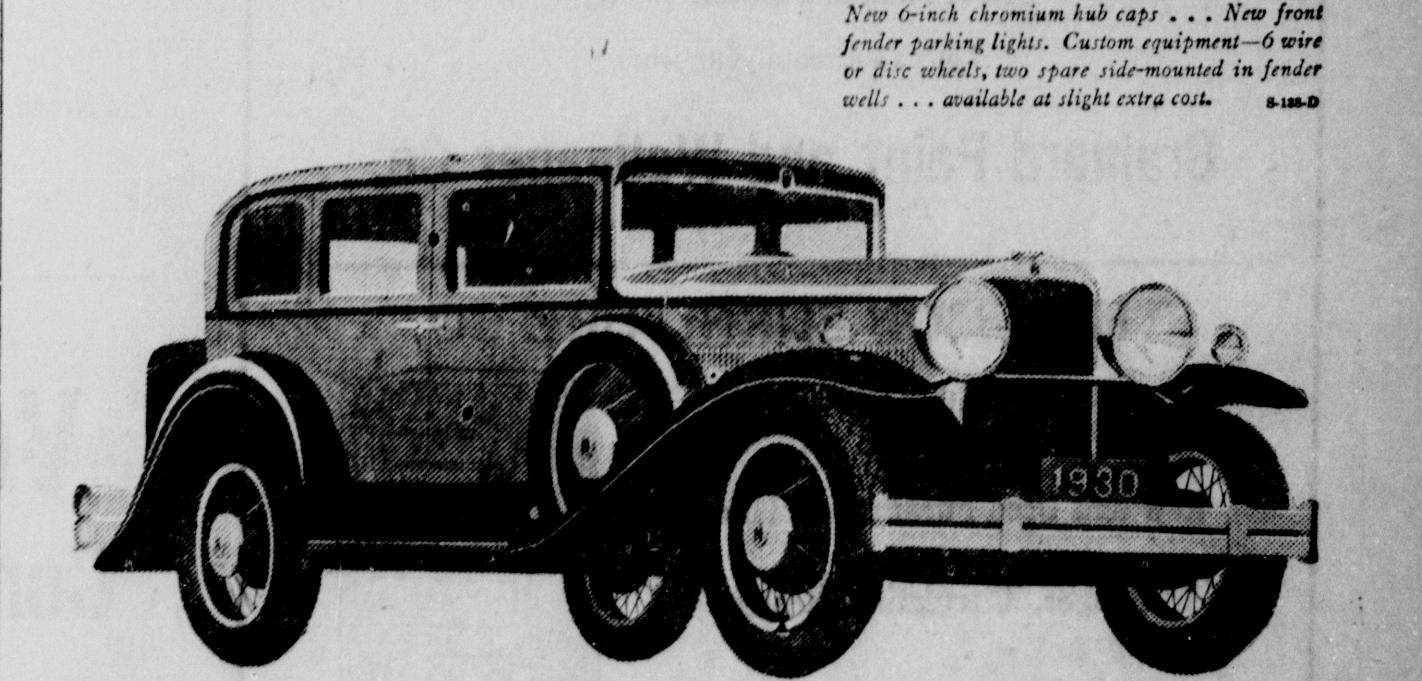

Of course, most cast-offs simply keep drifting, thus justifying the general good judgment of those master minds. But when the discard proves to be a Hack Wilson—well, most of us who like to laugh at a boss's mistakes are inclined to snicker.

A Modernized Home Often Adds to Your Social Prestige

Social Standings Is Sometimes Gauged by Type of the House

Strangers Judge Entirely By Outward Aspects

To the stranger or casual passerby the appearance of the home is the only criterion of the social prestige of the owner. The occupants of the home are judged largely by the exterior lines of the building.

If the home is modern in appearance, with pleasing lines and well-proportioned accessories, the on-looker is influenced more favorably toward the owner than toward his neighbor down the street who lives in an antiquated residence which was the style back in the eighties.

An unfair and often entirely an erroneous estimate, it must be admitted, yet one based on human nature.

Adds to Prestige

A modern house adds to social prestige. The owner of a modern residence is looked upon with respect because visible evidence is present that he has taste and appreciation of beauty and the ability to gratify these.

From the standpoint of the mistress of the house, a modernized home has its social advantages. She can welcome her guests with a more pronounced feeling of satisfaction. She knows that the exterior lines are charming and that the interior shows good taste and breeding.

Apologies are entirely unnecessary when the house is modern. Even though these apologies are silent, the feeling remains that the house is not what it should be.

Outsiders Are Curious

When an outsider comes into the house, the furnishings and other appointments of the home are immediately appraised and the position of the owner established more or less accurately.

Should the draperies, fixtures, and decorations be modern and up-to-date the reaction is usually favorable. If, on the other hand, the home is still decorated in the fashion that prevailed during Spanish-American war days, the onlooker sometimes assumes that the family also is behind the times, or that the owner is deficient in taste and lacking in the initiative to keep abreast of the times.

Basis of Social Prestige

Social prestige is a precarious thing. Its foundations are often based on little things. It is easy for this prestige to be lost. And on the other hand, often the expenditure of a few dollars establishes it more firmly than ever.

It must not be assumed that modernizing the home is a sure way to social prestige. It is evident that many other elements enter into a consideration of the social status of a family. Yet the home is often the index to social esteem. Such being the case, social esteem has its place when considering home modernizing. It is an aspect of the general topic that should be definitely acknowledged.

Children Judge by Visible Evidence

Perhaps young people are less thoughtful when considering social prestige. They are more apt to judge social position by visible evidence rather than by honorable lineage, family prominence and true worth of character. The parents of a growing family therefore must acknowledge the superficial judgment of the young people and by means of modernization give their children that social prestige to which they are rightly entitled, but which is not evident when the residence is allowed to grow out of date.

Money spent on modernization has a definite social value. This aspect must never be overlooked when considering this most important subject.

BUILT-IN CUPBOARDS TAKE THE PLACE OF THE PANTRY

Many of the recently modernized homes are being reconstructed with built-in cupboards instead of the older pantry.

The modern housewife has been educated to arrange her kitchen to save steps. Since she spends many hours each day in this workshop of the home, the layout of the kitchen should be such that the work can be done quickly and easily.

The pantry was seldom located in the older houses with labor saving in mind, but was placed in a spot most convenient to the general plan of the house.

For this reason the pantry did not save steps but often caused the housewife to lose time when doing her work.

Cupboards, however, may be placed along the walls of the kitchen, so located that only a step or two is needed to reach them. These cupboards are as commodious as the average pantry. Pots and pans may be placed below near the floor, while china and cooking dishes as well as canned goods are located on the upper shelves.

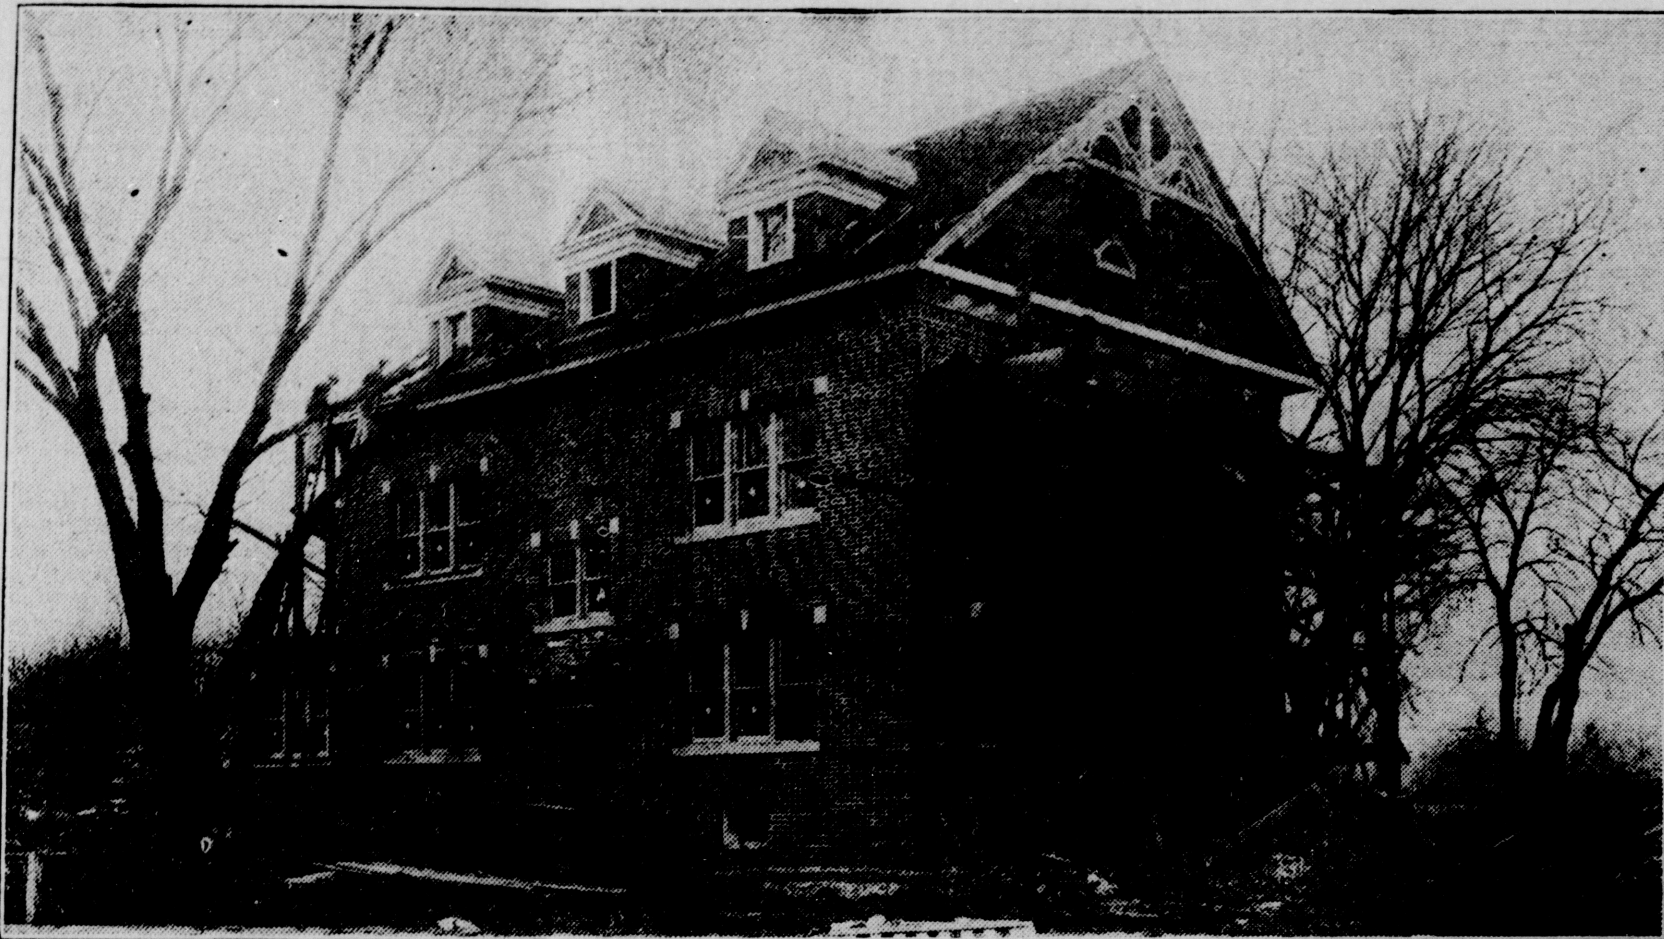

The woodwork of the cupboards may be painted in the same general color scheme of the kitchen.

One housewife who grew tired of the weekly changing of papers on the shelves of the cupboard now uses heavy linoleum to take the place of the shelf paper.

Rat Population

Of course there is no way to take a census of the rats in the United States, but the public health service estimates that there are probably 120,000,000 of these animals in this country.

An Apartment Building 28 Years Old---Yet New

This handsome brick veneer structure contains four modern apartments. It looks brand new but really has seen 28 years of service as a public school. The original building is shown to the right.

OLD PUBLIC SCHOOL HOUSE IS NOW NEW APARTMENTS

LARGE BUILDINGS MAKE MULTI-FAMILY DWELLINGS

The demand for three and four room apartments in our cities has caused many old buildings to be remodeled and modernized into apartment buildings.

These old buildings, soundly constructed in a workmanlike manner but now obsolete by the requirements of a new generation, are purchased by investors and reconstructed into a useful group of homes.

Before the carpenters and contractors touched them, these buildings were of little value, commanding only a slight price on the market. Often the buildings were purchased at a figure that barely covered the value of the ground upon which they stood.

But modernized, they proved to be a sound investment and paid substantial returns in dollars and cents. Their value as producing property leaped to a remarkable extent because they were profit producers.

An Illustration

Here is an illustration of a building which will soon be the home of four families. Sturdy and upright, the building carries an air of dignity and worth. The white limestone trim relieves the monotony of the brick veneer and conveys a spirit of quiet reserve.

This building, modern as it appears, is the old public school pictured below. You can tell that it is the same building by the fan-like decorative design in the gable and the remains of the old frame that set off the number of the school.

These illustrations show how simple is the problem of modernization as applied to exterior lines.

Now Brick Veneer

The old board siding has been removed and the side faced by brick veneer. The window arrangement has been entirely changed.

New "Big Stick"

In studying measurements of strength, the "yardstick" comes into attention as a pleasing successor to that once celebrated instrument of discipline, the "big stick."—Exchange.

Must Import Soft Woods

Forests of equatorial Africa are so largely composed of hard woods that when soft wood is needed for building purposes it has to be shipped from Europe or America.

New Beet Dish

An extra fine way to cook beets is to bake them on the grate in the oven like potatoes. So cooked they are delicious and none of their food value is lost.—Woman's Home Companion.

FAMILY RETURNS TO FIND HOME RAZED

Dwelling of Edward Hill Burns to Ground While He and Family are Fishing

FIREFIGHTERS POWERLESS

Location of House Away From Hydrants, Prevents Firemen Using Hose

A West Brainerd family returned last night from a fishing trip at one of the lakes to find their home razed to the ground by fire during their absence.

The family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hill and five children were taken in for the night by neighbors.

The home, a five room, one story frame dwelling, located in the woods in a southwesterly direction of the Riverside school and on the outer fringe of West Brainerd caught fire from unknown origin in the kitchen at about 8 p. m. and by 9 p. m. only the smoldering embers filled the basement.

Firemen were powerless to save the home because of its distance away from city hydrants. However they joined with neighbors in forming a bucket brigade. The attempt in this way to extinguish the blaze was unsuccessful.

Fearful that the youngest of the five children of the Hill family was in the building, L. S. Anderson, a neighbor, headed a group of men in effecting an entrance. They broke the windows of the house, entered and searched throughout the smoke filled rooms. Finding it unoccupied they saved a few of the household articles including a heater, piano, and beds. Firemen prevented the flames from spreading to the nearby garage and woods by the use of chemicals.

The building was insured for $1,000.

Full Gospel Assembly

A fine crowd was in attendance at the Full Gospel Assembly again last night to hear Evangelist V. R. Jackson who spoke again on "Jesus the Great Physician." He quoted Exodus 15:26, Psalms 103:3, and James 5:14, 15 to show that God all through the scriptures has intended that man should receive healing at the hand of God. He stated however that it was conditional that in order to receive healing man must hearken diligently to the voice of the Lord and do right in His sight and walk in His ways.

At the close of the service a number of sick folk were prayed for.

Rev. Jackson will speak tonight on the "Baptism With the Holy Ghost and Fire."

Friday night there will be a meeting especially for the young people.

VILLAGES TO OPPOSE SOO TRACK REMOVAL

Hearing on Application for Permission to Abandon 32 Miles of Track, October 14

TO BE HELD AT AITKIN

Opposition to be Based on Grounds That Dairy, Lumber Business Requires Line

A joint hearing by the interstate commerce commission and the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission will be held at Aitkin October 14, it was announced today.

The hearing was called to consider the application of the Soo line railway, which has asked permission to abandon and remove 32 miles of line between Kennedy mine and East Lake. Unified service between the Northern Pacific and the Soo Line to many iron range points makes the Kennedy mine line unneeded, the application states.

Residents of the districts of Darina, Rossburg, Aitkin and Ironhub are expected to oppose the abandonment on the grounds that the dairy and lumber business of the area requires the line.

MEN TO GIVE LUTEFISK SUPPER

Men's Club of Norwegian - Danish Lutheran Church to Sponsor Event

ON FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 1

Old Holm Elected Chairman of Committee on Arrangements

At the regular monthly meeting of the Men's club of the Norwegian-Danish church held in the social rooms of the church Monday evening preliminary arrangements were made for serving an old time lute-fisk supper on Friday evening, November 1. This will be the twelfth annual lute-fisk supper sponsored by the Men's club.

The fall of the year is the season for church suppers. They come in such numbers that a number of newspaper men have suggested a clearing house to regulate the dates so that co-operation might eliminate competition as it were. They might well co-operate for they all have at least this in common, that the good folks who sponsor and provide them, add to the menu a measure of good will that makes one always want to come again.

The popularity of lute-fisk seems increasing and spreading every year. From a small beginning in the homes of a few peasants and fishermen on the west coast of Norway it has found its way across the Atlantic and is today relished in millions of American homes. And there is no doubt a good reason for this since it is now generally admitted that lute-fisk is a fine tonic that will restore lost appetites, soothe jaded nerves, and quicken a low spirit.

At the meeting Monday evening Old Holm was elected chairman of the committee on general arrangements. Other members of the committee are C. N. Olson, C. J. Walstad, Arne Dyvik and Peter Peterson.

NOTICE

All members MODERN WOODMEN OF AMERICA should come to next regular meeting Friday, September 13, Odd Fellows hall. Speaker from Minnesota M. W. Protective association will be there to talk on the proposed rate increase. Be sure and come. C. BRUHN, Clerk.

HUMMING BIRDS ADD BEAUTY TO NURSERY

Part of Scene at Brainerd Nursery Overlooking Gilbert Lake

GLADS CONTINUE TO BLOOM

Twenty-Five Acres of Wooded Property Becomes Fertile Garden in Two Years

Darting in and out of the thousands of gladiolus in bloom at the Brainerd Nursery is a flock of humming birds who call that beauty spot on the north shore of Gilbert Lake home as long as warm weather will permit their stay.

The birds, so minute that unless careful watch is made they cannot be seen, live on grubs of the plants and protect their growth and beauty.

There is a rare beauty in the scene at the Brainerd Nursery's 25 acres overlooking the lake. Rows and rows of gladiolus of more than 100 varieties as well as other flower plants add beauty to that of the trees surrounding.

The nursery is an example of what results can be achieved through landscaping and manual effort. Two years ago trees covered the land. In its place are acres of fertile farm land with blooming flowers, fruit trees of apple, plum and cherry, grape vines, everbearing strawberry plants, cultivated raspberries, water melons of unusual size and delicious flavor, and luscious red and yellow tomatoes.

Evangelical Ladies Aid

The Evangelical ladies aid of North-east Brainerd will meet tomorrow afternoon in the social rooms of the church. The entertaining committee consists of the Mesdames T. M. Krauss, W. Smith, I. Strassburg, and A. Schiel. Members are requested to be present and friends are always welcome.

by ROBERT TERRY SHANNON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Eddie Regan, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped to Virginia, where he meets Marian Thorndike. Bernice Veressi, "gang girl," who is in love with Eddie, is forgotten in Eddie's dreams of Marian. Penfield Parandine, last member of an aristocratic Southern family, whom Eddie befriends, dies and leaves Eddie all his possessions. Eddie determines to live on the farm and make it a paying proposition and eventually win Marian. She comes to the house one night after being thrown off her horse, and Eddie kisses her and declares his love. Marian tells him it is hopeless, but Eddie refuses to give up hope. Tom Freeman, also in love with Marian, comes searching for her and takes her home in his car. Eddie calls her father on the telephone to advise him of his daughter's safety. The next day, Marian sends a note of thanks to Eddie.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

THE missive filled him with ecstatic joy. He had the sheet of paper in his hand and adored the very formation of the letters—her hand had rested on the fibre of the paper and given it an infinitely precious quality. He read the words over five or six times. A great admiration for her, devoid of passion, welled up in him.

"What a girl!" he murmured. "What a darn fine girl!"

She was generous, forgiving, magnificently hospitable. A great urge burned in him to rush to her immediately, but discretion restrained him. He would have to meet her parents and he had a feeling they would not like him. Her father had hated old Penfield Parandine and, no doubt, some rumor would attach to the Parandine heir.

It was barely possible, too, that the invitation to call had been merely perfunctory and a gesture of politeness. Maybe it had only been a mere matter of form—maybe these people down here had a sort of courtesy that caused them to acknowledge even the slightest favor by writing a letter about it. Eddie, frankly, didn't know points of etiquette touching such matters. He would have to send off for a book and read up on the subject. But, balanced against all this, was the glorious possibility that Marian Thorndike had meant every word she had written.

Three days passed since he had received her letter and still he dared not call. Every time he tried to nerve himself up, he was assailed by uncertainty, by doubt that undermined his determination. He didn't know how soon she expected him—if she expected him at all—and he was afraid of making a grotesque blunder. A solution occurred to him and he called her up.

"Drop in any time you are passing," she responded to his inquiry as to when he could call. He had felt uneasy talking to her over the telephone, and, without meaning to, he had seemed abrupt.

But her voice was cordial enough. Wearing his city suit, which Tohe had cleaned and pressed, Eddie turned his horse and buggy in the lane that led up to the Thorndike home. Everybody else in the county, it seemed, owned an automobile and he was acutely conscious of his poverty. Not for himself did he mind it so much, but he hoped so poor a suitor would not embarrass Marian before her friends. On one thing, though, he could bank—she was a regular girl and there was not a trace of high-hat in her makeup. He hitched his horse to a tree and presented himself at the door. It was opened, not by a colored Marian came into the room and Eddie again felt a swimming sensation of bliss at the contact of her hand in greeting. It was the first time he had seen her in her own home, and she blended with a feminine daintiness into the homelike, yet dignified, well proportioned, high-ceilinged living room and the subdued, gracious furnishings.

In a light Summer dress she revealed a cool loveliness that was somehow less sophisticated than the effect she produced when clad in riding clothes. The thing he admired so greatly about her was her self-possession. In contrast, he imagined his own face was flushed, and there was danger that he might stumble on a rug.

"I'm calling on Miss Marian," Eddie said.

servant, but by a tall man with white hair and a strong featured face.

"I am calling on Miss Marian," Eddie said.

The other invited him inside. "Oh, yes—she's around some place. I am her father."

He was a pleasant spoken man and there radiated from him a graciousness that instantly pleased Eddie at ease. Few of the people he had known in New York possessed such a gift. Even as he liked Marian he approved of her father.

"My name is Regan." So slight was the change in his attitude that Eddie could not be sure that a change occurred at all; yet there was a bare hint of aloofness or dislike that had sprung into existence.

"Oh, yes, Mr. Regan—I'll see if I can find my daughter. Won't you sit down?" He left Eddie alone and suddenly the whole house seemed to fill with a frigid disapproval.

"So glad to see you," she said smoothly. "You are just in time for tea."

It was the first time in his life he had ever had tea with anybody; the custom had never been practiced among his New York associates and the idea of having tea bore, somehow, a faint stamp of effeminacy.

Once they were seated, however, she made it easy for him to forget any embarrassment. A lingering uncertainty was still upon him because of her father's fancied hostility—he admitted that he might have been unduly sensitive. Marian, though, was fascinatingly cordial.

She must have sensed that he was slightly ill at ease because she kept the conversation, at once, free from anything personal between them. There were a number of books in the room, and novels—she asked him if he would care to read them.

MERCURY GETS NEW MOTOR

NAVAL SPEED PLANE HOPES TO BETTER THE ENGLISH MARK

Washington, Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—With a new 24-cylinder Packard motor in his feet Mercury seaplane, Lieut. Alford J. Williams, U. S. N., soon will attempt to exceed the 355.5 miles per hour record established yesterday by Squadron Leader A. H. Orlebar of England, it was learned today.

Chesapeake Bay, where Williams made several unsuccessful trials of the same plane just before the Schneider Cup races on September 6, again will be the scene of the Mercury's tests. Williams' new engine, will be identical with the old one, a dual power plant fashioned by joining two Packard twin sixes. The new motor is expected to develop 1,250 horsepower.

The little ship, beautifully streamlined, is shaped almost like a bullet. Short stubby wings protrude from midpoint of either side of the fuselage. Enormous pontoons, embracing a cooling system, are designed to permit landing at speeds around 100 miles per hour.

BAY RUM CHEMISTRY CLASS CONVENES IN DES MOINES COURT

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 11.—(U.P.)—The bay rum chemistry class of Des Moines reconvened in Judge Joseph E. Merston's courtroom today in its third meeting to decide whether bay rum is entitled to a respected place on a barber's bar or belongs in a speakeasy. The state, which is conducting the classes, is seeking to confiscate several thousand bottles of bay rum and is pressing a case against the Woolworth 5 and 10 cent store where prohibition agents seized the lotion which sold three ounces for 10 cents.

The jury, struggling with the A. B. C's of chemistry, has learned a lot about alcohols already but the state is not yet through attempting to prove that the 50 and 60 per cent alcoholic content of bay rum renders that lotion an intoxicating liquor.

The jurors know now there is ethyl, iso propyl, amyl and wood alcohol, and that certain ones produce blindness, others death, all a grand feeling and that all do more or less injure the human system.

PICTORIAL REVIEW

DOUBLE-BREADED

Fashion found all types of double-breasted fashions very youthful during the past Summer. We even had double-breasted sweaters. This favor for things double-breasted is continuing with unabated enthusiasm through the Winter. It appears particularly in coats and frocks for the junior. A trig example is shown in this coat, with its mannish tailoring. It is developed in tweed, which is well to the forefront in favor for the younger girls' coats and jackets. The new tweeds are rough in appearance, but very soft in texture, and are often flecked with white.
